

LEWIS L. (LYNN) ELLSWORTH

Primary Areas of Practice: Labor and Employment Law.

Career Highlights: Admitted to practice in 1977. Thereafter practiced exclusively in the areas of labor and employment law. On a regular basis was responsible for negotiating and administering numerous collective bargaining agreements. As an advocate arbitrated well over 300 cases in virtually every industry. Started legal career with the largest law firm in San Francisco dedicated to representing public school districts in employment/labor matters. Moved to Seattle and joined the only law firm in Seattle at the time which exclusively practiced management labor law. Litigated cases before the NLRB, the EEOC, comparable state agencies and numerous civil trials (both jury and bench) in both state and federal courts.

Professional Associations: Washington and California State Bar Associations, Seattle-King County Bar Association, and related Labor Law Sections.

Education: University of Santa Clara Law School (magna cum laude), 1977; Washington State University, 1968; London Film School, 1970.

Railroad and Airlines: Since 1999, has served as neutral member on Public Law Boards involving the United Transportation Union and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Has worked with a significant number of Carriers including Union Pacific Railroad, BNSF, Kansas City Southern Railway Company, Canadian National/Illinois Central Railroad, Dakota, Minnesota & Eastern Railroad Company, Iowa Interstate Railroad Ltd., and the Paducah Louisville Railway, Inc. Has worked with Continental Airlines (later United Airlines) involving pilots, machinists, teamsters and flight attendants.

Arbitration Project: Attended 2010 Arbitrator Orientation Project sponsored by Union Pacific Railroad and the United Transportation Union.